

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Tuesday, 8 January 2013 1:17 PM
To: Electoral Reform
Subject: Compulsory voting Discussion paper

In response to electoral reform:-

- 1) Donations should always be capped and this should apply to all donations. Donations from large corporations and large donations from individuals should be banned. Anything that stops big money influence is a good thing. Politicians should be in their job passionately for the good of the State or country and not for himself and his money friends. This is very apparent with mining magnates.
- 2) Truth in advertising should be introduced. Instead of political advertising rubbishing the other political party, they should be advertising what thier party will do for the people.
- 3) How to vote phampletts still need to be passed to people to show them how to vote correctly and make their vote count.
- 4) Making people bring identification on polling day is a large waste of taxpayers time and money.
- 5)
 - a) Yes
 - b) No
 - c) No
- 7) Give everybody some sort of political education, why waste tax payers money changing the compulsory vote. If it was not for compulsory voting 35 years on, Chances are I would not be sending this email at all.

Regards
Terrence Wardle
Voter