

Inquest into the death of Steven John Hitchens and Shawn Bradley Joseph Gudge

On 5 February 2018, Coroner Kevin Priestly delivered his findings into the deaths of Steven Hitchens and Shawn Gudge.

Mr Hitchens was an inpatient in the Low Dependency Mental Health Unit at Townsville Hospital when he was found deceased on 3 August 2014 with a plastic bag over his head. Autopsy confirmed he died due to asphyxiation. Mr Gudge was an inpatient in the High Dependency Mental Health Unit of Townsville Hospital when he was found unconscious on 10 May 2015 with a ligature made from a bed sheet around his neck. Autopsy confirmed he died due to hanging.

The joint inquest was convened to better understand the circumstances of the deaths, if there were any missed opportunities to reduce the risk of inpatient suicide, and to explore what progress was made in considering and implementing earlier coronial recommendations.

The Queensland Government responds to recommendations directed to government agencies at inquests by informing the community if a recommendation will be implemented or the reason why a recommendation is not supported.

The departments named in this response will provide implementation updates until the recommendation is delivered. Further information relating the implementation of recommendations can be obtained from the responsible minister named in the response.

Recommendation 1

Queensland Mental Health centralise within the state a body, with oversight from the Office of Chief Psychiatrist, tasked with the function of reviewing and reporting to hospital and health services on lessons learnt and other opportunities for improvement through internal and external investigations (including root cause analysis reports, health service investigation reports, health ombudsman reports, coronial findings and recommendations) as well as like reports from other states.

Response and action: the recommendation is implemented.

Responsible agency: Queensland Health.

On 1 November 2018 the Minister for Health and Minister for Ambulance Services responded:

On 5 September 2018, the director-general approved the establishment of the Mental Health Alcohol and Other Drugs Quality Assurance Committee (MHAOD QAC), with oversight from the Office of the Chief Psychiatrist. The function of the MHAOD QAC relevant to this recommendation is to monitor and review qualitative and quantitative clinical and other information, including investigation documents (for example coronial reviews), as required, from relevant departments and entities to identify trends and system level improvements.

Committee members were selected via invited expressions of interest for suitably qualified and trained individuals from across Queensland public mental health services and consumer and carer representatives.

Recommendation 2

The Office of the Chief Psychiatrist commission an independent, external audit and review of the extent to which each relevant hospital and health service has implemented the ligature and environmental guidelines as well as the effectiveness of that implementation. The results of that audit and review be shared with each hospital and health service as well as any opportunities for improvement.

Response and action: implementation of the recommendation is in progress.

Responsible agency: Queensland Health.

On 1 November 2018 the Minister for Health and Minister for Ambulance Services responded:

Queensland Health is working with hospital and health service (HHS) clinical governance units to review the effectiveness of the implementation of the guidelines Managing ligature risks in public Mental Health Alcohol and Other Drug inpatient services and Recognising and managing potential environmental hazards in Queensland public Mental Health Alcohol and Other Drug services.

To ensure appropriate mental health expertise and increase objectivity, HHS clinical governance (from outside mental health services) will lead the review and include a senior mental health clinician from another HHS. This will also facilitate sharing of practical lessons across the state.

Results of all HHS reviews will be aggregated by the Office of the Chief Psychiatrist and presented to the Mental Health Alcohol and Other Drugs Quality Assurance Committee (MHAOD QAC) to inform dissemination of lessons across Queensland Health mental health services.

The project reviewing the implementation of environmental safety guidelines within authorised mental health service inpatient units is undergoing final planning and will be tabled for approval by the MHAOD QAC. Subject to approval, the review process as described above will commence in late 2018.
