

From: Cherie hamilton
Sent: Sunday, 6 January 2013 9:08 AM
To: Electoral Reform
Subject: Compulsory voting

To whom it may concern,

Re- compulsory voting. Having been a voter for 20 years, I have always begrudged spending a Saturday lining up at smelly old halls whilst agenda driven volunteers thrust how to vote (yeah right) cards at me left right and centre. But having to choose between the above mentioned or a fine assured my appearance every election. Wow, how my opinion has changed. I am all for voting now. I will vote with enthusiasm to ensure the current state government are NOT re elected.

I do believe the system should be made more simple though. Sometimes I haven't got a clue which party I am voting for, its all so confusing. Perhaps to deceive the simple voter. And in this day and age, I will never understand why we can not vote online.

These are my thoughts, and I look forward to the next state election as I will be more informed and self educated on all the mumbo jumbo, deceitful policies thrown at me.

Regards, Cherie Hamilton